

Modernizing the United States' Public Health Infrastructure: A Position Paper From the American College of Physicians

In this policy paper, ACP calls for effective coordination of public health activities, robust and stable year-to-year funding of public health services, a renewed and well-supported public health workforce, action to address health-related dis- and misinformation, modernized public health data systems, and greater coordination between public health and medical sectors.

Annals of Internal Medicine* full text: <https://www.acpjournals.org/doi/10.7326/M23-0670>