

Dr. Savarapu, an international medical graduate, completed his internal medicine residency at McLaren-Flint/Michigan State University, following his role as a research scholar and Internship Manager at the University of Louisville. Now an Assistant Professor at Louisiana State University Health Sciences Shreveport's Monroe Medical Center, he serves as Core Faculty and Site Program Director for the Internal Medicine Residency program and Associate Clerkship Director for the Internal Medicine clerkship (3rd-year medical students). Dr. Savarapu is a Regional Councilor and inaugural IMG Committee Chair in the ACP Louisiana chapter. With expertise in Internal Medicine, a robust research portfolio, and dedication to medical education, he significantly contributes to academic medicine through clinical practice, research, and education. Beyond his professional pursuits, Dr. Savarapu enjoys spending time with family and friends, appreciating music, and staying active through badminton and soccer.