

THERE'S NO PLACE LIKE HOME? HITTING A HOME RUN FOR ACUTE CARE SUBSTITUTION

TUESDAY,
NOVEMBER 19, 2024
6:00PM ET

OPEN TO ALL!
NO FEE TO ATTEND

WHY ATTEND?

Hospital at Home (HaH) is an innovative acute care delivery model within an alternate venue – the patient's home. These programs have rapidly been adopted by healthcare institutions across the country since the Acute Hospital Care at home waiver by CMS in 2020. Literature on better patient outcomes and satisfaction, as well as decreased costs as compared to traditional brick and mortar hospitals has emerged since 2018. Hospitalists are at the forefront of providing care to eligible consenting patients in these models and must be knowledgeable of the history of HaH in the U.S., the different types of models that exist, the outcome metrics followed to track success and the current political landscape.

This webinar has been designated for 1.0 AMA PRA Category 1 Credit(s)™ and 1.0 MOC points.

PRESENTER

Anupama Goyal, MD, MPH, MBA
Clinical Assistant Professor
University of Michigan
Medical Director
University of Michigan Health System
Hospital Care at Home Program

ABOUT DR. GOYAL

Dr. Goyal completed medical school at Makerere University in Uganda. She moved to the United States and received her Master of Public Health from Columbia University in New York. She interned at UNICEF HIV/AIDS unit, and as a research assistant at Beth Israel Hospital in New York. She completed her Internal Medicine residency and was a Chief Medical Resident at St. John's Hospital in Detroit, before practicing as a Hospitalist at the University of Texas Southwestern in Dallas. She relocated to Michigan in 2014, when she joined the Division of Hospital Medicine at Michigan Medicine. She has held several leadership positions at Michigan Medicine including Medical Director for the Hospitalist service and medical-surgical floors. Most recently, Dr. Goyal has been leading the University of Michigan Health System Hospital Care at Home Program launched in February 2024 as the medical director.

← REGISTER TODAY! SCAN THE QR CODE OR CLICK HERE

Questions? Contact the MI-ACP Staff at info@acpmichigan.org.