Committee Spotlight

Early Career Physician Committee

An Early Career Physician (ECP) is defined as a doctor who is within 16 years from medical school graduation and is not an ACP Resident/Fellow Member or medical student member. The national Council of Early Career Physicians (CECP) has released a Resource Guide for Engaging Early Career Physicians at the Chapter Level, to help chapters establish Councils of Early Career Physicians and enable chapters to mobilize Early Career Physician leaders. By establishing a chapter CECP, the Governor can appoint local Early Career Physician leaders to represent Early Career Physicians, foster their involvement in activities, and ensure that their unique needs are being met. Responsibilities of chapter CECP members may include developing educational programs that assist Early Career Physicians with their academic and professional needs and recognizing their contributions to the profession.

The committee, chaired by Dr. Anthony Marino (UVA), is actively recruiting new committee members. If you are interested in joining the ECP Committee, please reach out to Sarah Wardrop or Dr. Marino.

ACP Benefit Spotlight

Join more than 15,000 colleagues in the Advocates for Internal Medicine Network (AIMn) in advocating for the interests of internal medicine in Washington, D.C. The AIMn program is for ACP members interested in participating in federal advocacy. It is designed to help members engage with their federal lawmakers on policy issues important to ACP and internal medicine.

Legislative Action Center

As key issues approach the decision-making stage on Capitol Hill, the College emails or faxes legislative alerts to AIMn members through our Legislative Action Center (LAC). Legislative alerts include all of the necessary information (including sample messages that can be easily personalized) to make informative contacts with members of Congress, and ACP staff is always available to provide support and answer legislative questions.

Once enrolled as an Advocate you can use the College's LAC to respond easily to current ACP legislative alerts, identify your federal legislators, monitor important legislation, and e-mail or call your members of Congress.
